

INDEPENDENT STATE OF PAPUA NEW GUINEA
Independent Consumer and Competition Commission Act

Act, Sec 82

Form 3

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR AUTHORIZATION FOR A BUSINESS ACQUISITION

- 1. FORM AND CONTENT: In addition to providing a detailed submission in support of the application, the Applicant/s is required to complete this application form in full. The Independent Consumer and Competition Commission (the Commission) may reject any applications that have not been filled out fully and properly, in accordance with Section 76 (4) (c) of the Independent Consumer and Competition Commission Act, 2002, (the Act).
- 2. WHERE TO APPLY: Applications for Authorization for Business Acquisitions should be lodged at the Commission's office located at Level 2 Garden City Building, Boroko, National Capital District or mailed to P.O. Box 6394, BOROKO, National Capital District, Papua New Guinea. Supply one (1) hard copy and (1) soft copy of your application.
- 3. FEE: The fee for processing of a business acquisition authorization application is K35, 000. This must be paid by a cheque made out to the Commission before any work is done on the application.
- 4. COLLECTION OF DETERMINATION: It is the Commission's duty to inform an Applicant of its Determination, in writing, in accordance with Section 82 (3), within 72 days after the date of registration of the notice or for such period as agreed by the Commission and the Applicant.
- 5. LEGAL ADVICE: Although it is not a requirement under the Act, the Commission encourages Applicants to seek independent legal advice before applying to the Commission for authorization.
- 6. PENALTIES: It is not a legal requirement to apply for authorization under Section 82 of the Act; hence there is no penalty for not applying. However, it is advisable to apply and be protected from potential contravention of Section 69. The penalties for such contraventions are up to K500, 000 for an individual and K10, 000 000 for a body corporate under Section 95 (3) of the Act.
- 7. CONFIDENTIALITY: The consideration of applications for authorization is a public process. All documents provided to the Commission that were intended to form part of the application, will be placed on public record on the Commission's Public Register. The Commission may reject any claim for confidentiality if it considers that disclosure is in the best interest of the public. If the Commission decides to disclose any information claimed to be confidential, the Applicant will be provided with an opportunity to withdraw the information. If confidential information has been withdrawn, they will not be considered in the assessment and determination of the application. Where the Applicant would like to apply for confidentiality, the Applicant must complete an Application for Confidentiality Form (ICCC Form-4). The Commission will consider, make a decision and inform the Applicant accordingly.

PLEASE FOLLOW DIRECTIONS ON THE BACK TO COMPLETE THIS FORM

DIRECTIONS

1. If you are an individual making this application on behalf of a company please state the name of the company. Note that the application must only be signed by a person authorized in writing by the company to do so and relevant correspondence confirming that the individual has been authorized to sign on behalf of the company must also be attached.

If the space on this form is insufficient to provide all the information required, the information must be provided on separate sheets of paper, numbered consecutively and signed by or on behalf of the Applicant.

The Commission welcomes any other additional information that the Applicant deems relevant in support of the application.

2. The response should detail the ownership structure, a list of the shareholders (where applicable) and the Applicant's latest annual report (if any).
3. The response should disclose details of a holding company (if any) or subsidiary/ies (if any) as defined under Section 5 of the Companies Act of 1997.
4. The response must disclose details of a holding company (if any) or subsidiary/ies (if any) as defined under Section 5 of the Companies Act of 1997.
5. The response should disclose:
 - (a) the date the contract, arrangement, understanding or proposal was or is intended to be made,
 - (b) the date the public bid was advertised,
 - (c) the intended date the contract, arrangement, understanding or proposal was or is intended to be concluded,
 - (d) the intended date of consummation of the acquisition,
 - (e) the consideration proposed to be exchanged for the acquisition.

Also provide where possible, a copy of the contract, arrangement, understanding or proposal between the Applicant and the Target.

6. The response should include background information on the industry sector/s relating to the acquisition and the role of the Applicant and Target Company in the industry sector/s related to the acquisition. The information should also include a description of goods and services supplied both locally and internationally.
7. The response should detail all the goods and services produced and/or supplied and identify areas where there is an overlap (same or similar goods and services produced and/or supplied or same area of business conducted by the Applicant and target) in the production and/or supply of goods and services by the Applicant and the Target.
8. In determining whether an acquisition breaches Section 69 of the Act, an assessment of the relevant market/s must be made. The response must detail the product, functional, geographical and time dimensions of the market/s.
 - (a) The product dimension of the market must include the identification of goods and services supplied by the Applicant and the Target Company. The next step is to identify the goods or services that may be considered substitutable or interchangeable with goods and services supplied by the Applicant and target by customers – Demand side substitutability. Also identify possibilities of customers to switch to alternative suppliers given a permanent price increase and other suppliers start producing the goods and services in question or produce a substitute product – Supply side substitutability.

- (b) The functional dimension of the market must describe the vertical stages of productions and distribution that comprises the relevant arena of competition. Consider whether products produced or sold at several levels by vertically integrated firms, or by firms at another level of distribution than the merging firms, should be included in the relevant market because the exercise of market power at one stage of distribution can be constrained by firms at an adjacent level of distribution.
 - (c) The geographic dimension of the market must identify the areas over which the Applicant and the Target Company and their competitors currently supply, the relevant products and to which the customers could practically turn. Also identifies other areas where customers could purchase these products given the merged firms raise prices.
 - (d) The time dimension of the market must address the period over which substitution possibilities must be considered.
9. Provide a detailed argument outlining the public benefits claimed to result from the proposed acquisition.
10. Provide details of the detriments to the public, including those resulting from any lessening of competition, as a result of the proposed acquisition.
11. The response should provide details of at least 5 suppliers and should be an even representation of suppliers ranging from small, to medium and then to large suppliers. The response should also include a description of the goods and services supplied by each of the suppliers and an estimated value of the goods and services supplied.
12. The response should include the location of each of the suppliers identified and the areas to which each of the identified entities supplies goods or services.
13. The response should provide details of at least 5 customers (if there are less, list all of them) and should be an even representation of the customers ranging from small, to medium and then to large customers and must include a description of the goods or services and the value of the goods and services purchased by these customers.
14. The response should provide details of any contracts, exclusivity rebates and discounts and identify any customers who have contracts which are about to expire within the next two years and indicate the supply volumes associated with such contracts.
15. The response should describe the market share of the suppliers or purchasers identified earlier, the market share of the Applicant and the market share of the Target Company in the relevant market/s over the last 5 years, including the total size of the domestic market. The documents relied upon to estimate the total market share sizes must be provided. The response should also include the number of buyers and sellers in the market.
- Also outline the extent to which the Acquirer would be constrained in its actions by existing competitors in the relevant markets
16. The response should detail:
- (a) the ability of competitors in the relevant market/s to increase supply,
 - (b) the ease with which customers could change suppliers including any switching costs that they would incur
 - (c) whether goods and services produced in the relevant market/s should be considered homogeneous or whether there are variations in price or quality and whether the relevant market/s are characterized by brand loyalty.
17. The response should detail whether it is viable for customers to import substitutes. Also indicate the origin of imports and address issues including but not limited to:
- options for the transportation of imports (e.g. by air, sea or land);

- transportation costs;
- whether the product is a high or low value product;
- whether the product is of high or low density; and
- whether the product is durable for transportation without damage or deterioration in quality.

The response should also cover any barriers to importation in the relevant market/s including whether significant investment in facilities or in distribution arrangements is needed to facilitate importation.

18. The response should provide details of the price of actual or potential imports (including, additional costs such as freight and customs duties), whether existing import suppliers can accommodate a significant expansion in capacity without the need for significant investment and whether import competition would provide a constraint on companies post acquisition in the downstream market. The response should also include details of existing importers and their customers.
19. The response should cover relative capacities, cost structures and the cost of expansion in the market.
20. The response should detail –
 - (a) the market conditions that may affect the ability to entry and the ability of existing firms to expand;
 - (b) the nature and height of barriers to entry and expansion;
 - (c) details of exit;
 - (d) entry and expansion in the relevant market/s in the last 5 years;
 - (e) any incentives or disincentives for new entry; and
 - (f) effective competitor.

Barriers which must be addressed include, but are not limited to, the following:

- (a) Sunk costs in production capacity;
 - (b) Accessing shelf space;
 - (c) Advertising and promotion;
 - (d) Legal and Regulatory restrictions such as licensing requirements, industry standards and capital requirements;
 - (e) Requirement for scarce inputs;
 - (f) the extent of Brand loyalty in the relevant market/s;
 - (g) Minimum efficient scales of operation;
 - (h) Goodwill;
 - (i) Access to scarce resources such as intellectual property; and
 - (j) Threat of retaliatory action by incumbents to new entry.
21. The response should have information including but not limited to the following –
 - (a) Growth (whether the relevant market/s is/are growing or declining);
 - (b) Levels of innovation;
 - (c) Technological change (information on new technology used in production); and
 - (d) Product and/or service differentiation in the relevant market/s.
 22. The response should include information of merger parties' respective historical and current pricing, quality, after sales service and purchasing behavior. The response should also include merger parties' record of innovation, its growth relative to the growth of the relevant market/s, and its history of independent behavior.
 23. The response should detail -

- (a) whether the Acquirer has market power in any market which could be leveraged into a vertically related market;
 - (b) whether the target firm would have been a likely entrant to a vertically related market;
 - (c) whether the merged firm will control access to an essential input;
24. The response should detail factors conducive to coordination in a market including, but not limited to, the following –
- (a) The number of participants in the relevant market/s
 - (b) Transparency
 - (c) Homogeneity of product
 - (d) Homogeneity of firms
 - (e) The size and frequency of purchases
 - (f) The presence of the same firms in more than one market
25. The response should address the complementarity that occurs where there is significant commonality of customers' products and whether the strength of demand for one product is positively correlated with the strength of demand for another, either because the products form part of a range that distributors need to carry because they must be consumed together for technical reasons.
26. The response should detail the circumstances where two or more products are, or could be, supplied only as a bundle (pure bundling) or, if supplied individually, are also offered as a bundle as a price that is lower than the price charged if sold individually (mixed bundling). The response must also address circumstances where customers seeking to acquire one product are required also to purchase a second product or carry amounts of the second product (tying).
